has positively declined to do. What is the matter. What has gone wrong, and why does our Congressman act so strangely? It cannot be possible that a man like Judge Honk, who in times gone by, has met upon the hustings such intellectual giants as Maynard, Thornburgh, Williams and others, and who is now, as claimed by some, in the very zenith of his renown (?)-afraid to measure lances with a gentleman who is making his first political canvass. Perhaps the judge thought that it would be unbecoming in a Congressman to divide time with a man whom some of the judge's friends have seen proper to style a bolter. But no, this cannot be; for one of the most memorable campaigns that Houk ever made was in opposition to the late Hon. Horace Maynard, who was, as the Judge now admits, the regular nominee of the Republican party. In that instance Mr. Maynard honored Governor, makes use of granted the Judge a division of time, such pet phrases as hideous features, but it was not long before Maynard devilish regimes, accursed episodes, succeeded in driving him from the circumambient zephyrs, and many MANUFACTURE AND DEALERS IN canvass, by showing him to be a other like expressions.
